Facts About Polio

The March of Dimes represents the nation's brightest hope that the life of a child will be saved. We must hold tight to this hope. The Calloway County Polio Committee realizes that everyone who is not contacted during the March of Dimes, if for any reason, you are not contacted by a volunteer-polio worker, won't please mail your contribution to Robert O. Miller, March of Dimes, Murray, Kentucky.

KE REGINS FIRST DAY AS PRESIDENT

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

We don't see how women can stand to stay in a beauty parlor for two, three or four hours. We are squirming if we have to stay in a barber shop over thirty minutes.

Mrs. Roosevelt says that there is still "hope" for the Rosinobol. We have never given anyone the death sentence during times of peace, she says.

What makes her think we have peace?

A television set was installed at Murray High yesterday so the kids could see the inauguration ceremonies.

A very pleasant lady is Mrs. Max Nance.

Over at the clinic the other day and we wondered how the doctors could be so nice and still work under the pressure they are subjected to.

The place was running over with folks with misery of all kinds, yet the doctor listened to us describe our ailments at though it was the important thing of the moment.

Rocking a small child will cure almost any kind of trouble that he has. Whether it is a stumped toe, a bumped head, or a skinned finger.

There is only one name under Z in the phone book, also only one under Q.

The next smallest number of named came under I and Y where there is a tie of nine each.

Next in line is the letter U where government offices boost the number.

John Tom Taylor is having a tough time with a round of cold.

The White-way Service Station certainly looks different now since their complete rebuilding program.

That part of Murray has built up rapidly in the past few years as a good business district.

With the center of population of Murray shifting toward the West, the college area has proved to be a good location for business.

The Pocketbook gives us this method used widely by Russia.

Stalin one day was giving Mao Tse-Tung instruction in practical communism. "Comrade," said Stalin, "how would you make a cat eat chili pepper?"

"There are two ways," answered Mao. "I could force it down him or I could stuff a fish with pepper and give the fish to the cat."

"Wrong," said Stalin. "It's not compatible with our ideology. The first method is coercion the second deceptive. You know we never coerce or deceive the people."

"Then how would you do it?" asked Mao.

"I would put the pepper on the cat's tail," said Stalin. "When it burns, the cat will begin to lick it off, thus eating the pepper voluntarily."

We would like to see some more road work going on in Calloway county. Some of the county roads are in pitiful shape and little has apparently been done with the exception of a little scraping here and there.

Sam Kelley is building on his chicken business building.

The same holds true for gravel streets in the city. We believe that the gravel streets in the city should be paved as though they will be paved someday, and they should be kept the proper width for paving.

Truman Plain

It was plain to any Truman who left Washington last night for his native Missouri. The man who awoke yesterday morning as President of the United States went to bed aboard a private railroad car last night as a private citizen, en route to his native Missouri and a well-earned rest.

Mr. Truman's last day in Washington was busy. He was up early overseeing some last-minute packing in the White House—then he rode to the inauguration of Dwight Eisenhower—ate luncheon in the home of Secretary of State Dean Acheson with members of his official family—and then took the train for home and retirement.

At his station, Mr. Truman lost the symbol of his presidency—he shook hands and said good-bye to his Secret Service guards. The car which is carrying the former President and his wife toward Independence, Missouri, was loaned to him by President Eisenhower.

One Of Brodie Twins Succumbs

The weaker of the Brodie siamese twins has lost his long fight for life after more than 800 hours in a deep coma.

Roger Brodie died quietly during the night in the University of Illinois Research Hospital in Chicago.

The death of the 16-month-old boy had been expected ever since a history-making operation barely a month ago separated him from his twin Rodney.

The twins were joined at their heads—with their feet pointing in opposite directions.

Rodney regained consciousness 16 hours after the operation and took his formula from a bottle. A few days later he played pat-a-cake with his nurse. But Roger lagged into a coma following the operation, and never regained consciousness.

Now doctors say only that they hope Rodney will survive.

Williams In Japan

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Williams of Paris, Tennessee received a letter from their son, Cpl. Charles Ernest Williams this week telling of his safe arrival at Yokohama, Japan, on January 7.

He sailed from San Francisco on December 19. Williams is a former employee of the daily LEDGER AND TIMES.

His correct mailing address is: Cpl. Chas. E. Williams, RA 14374, Post, Prov. 93, A.P.O. No. 163, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

JIM LINE TO TESTIFY IN SPIVEY PERJURY TRIAL

The prosecution is scheduled to have another of former University of Kentucky basketball player Bill Spivey's teammates testify in New York today in Spivey's perjury trial.

Jim Line will be the second former teammate of Spivey to testify for the prosecution.

Walter Hirsch already has testified that Spivey accepted bribes from Jack Zipp to "shave points" in certain games.

Freshman Class Of Kirksey High To Present Comedy

The Freshman Class of Kirksey High School will present a three-act comedy, "His Name Was Aunt Nellie," on Friday evening, January 23, at 7:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The cast of characters includes: Jo Ellis, Chester Reeder, Sonia Greenfield, Gwendolyn Pierce, Fred Garland, Bobby Hugh Wilson, Larry Lyles, Marilyn Darnell, Thelma Gray, and Farley Adams.

"His Name Was Aunt Nellie" was written for one purpose only—to make its audience laugh, and to say it succeeds in expressing it mildly.

Special numbers will be given by Carolyn Cole, Patsy Hopkins, Hilda Neale, Joan Smith, and Jimmy Wilson.

Registration For Night Classes To Begin

Registration for night classes for the spring semester at Murray State College will be held in the Administration building on the campus Monday night, January 26, starting at 7 p.m.

According to Dr. Ralph H. Woods, MSC president, six courses will be offered, provide enrollment is sufficient to justify holding classes. Each course will carry three semester hours of credit.

Tentative courses include English 101, Elementary Composition; Speech 103, Business and Professional Speech; Commerce 106, Intermediate Shortland; Commerce 224, Principles of Management; History 116B, Survey of European Civilization, 1815 to present; and Political Science 101A, American Government and Citizenship.

NEW FIRST LADY SLEEPS LATE

The new first lady did what most Americans do after a big party—she slept late.

Mrs. Eisenhower had a big day ahead of her when she got up. She presided this afternoon at a reception for 300 women from the General Federation of Women's Clubs, The National Federation of Republican Women and Volunteers for Eisenhower.

She had good reason for being tired. The Eisenhowers went on the go for 18-straight hours yesterday. They returned to the White House from the inaugural ball after 11 a.m.

The ball itself was so popular that it was split into two sections—each so crowded that scarcely anyone could dance.

Party Bolter Wayne Morse Takes On Job As Chief Needle Of The Republican Party; Was Kicked Off Committees

By George J. Marder (UP)—The Democrats are getting a volunteer front man to needle the Republicans.

The job has been taken on by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, the one-time Republican who talked himself out of the party by backing Adlai Stevenson for president.

It was Morse who sounded the only "sour notes" at the Eisenhower inaugural—first by blocking confirmation of the Eisenhower cabinet, later with a barbed comment on Eisenhower's inaugural address. "An adequate summary of generalities," it was Morse who reacted to President Eisenhower's first speech as chief executive.

No Democrat would have been so bold as to block the Eisenhower cabinet nominations in the enthusiasm of inaugural day. Especially, inasmuch as the name of the only controversial nominee, Charles E. Wilson, was omitted from the list presented to the Senate.

But Morse took it upon himself to do just that.

He was on solid, parliamentary ground, too. By Senate rules, re-

Democrats Hold Most Offices As Cabinet Appointments Hit Snag

By United Press—President Eisenhower starts his first day at the helm of the nation's new Republican government with Democrats running most government departments.

Maverick Senator Wayne Morse tossed a monkeywrench in the wheels of the new administration's progress yesterday when he blocked confirmation of eight of Mr. Eisenhower's cabinet appointees.

The ninth—Charles Wilson, as Defense Secretary, may be withdrawn, according to a Washington rumor.

Senator Morse, who bolted the GOP to back Democrat Adlai Stevenson for President, blocked immediate confirmation of Mr. Eisenhower's cabinet yesterday when he cast the one dissenting vote against suspending the rules. But Senate Republican leaders have assured the President that eight of his cabinet appointees will be confirmed by tonight.

Some Capitol sources say Mr. Eisenhower may withdraw the Wilson appointment or that the former General Motors president may agree to sell his huge stock holdings in General Motors, GM is the biggest contractor on the Defense Department's lists, and Senators of both parties have said they regard Wilson's stock holdings as his greatest drawback as Defense Secretary.

Mr. Eisenhower's inaugural speech has won high praise from all over Europe and the British Isles. French, Italian, Spanish, Netherlands and British officials have sent congratulations on Mr. Eisenhower's stand on seeking an honorable peace with Russia.

The President's news secretary, James Hagerly, held a news conference this morning to outline the President's policy on news conferences to Capitol correspondents.

The Eisenhowers did not take up official residence in the White House until 7 p.m. (EST) last night—and then they didn't get much chance to look over their new home. They entered the main door at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

For the first time as the chief executive and first lady after the big inaugural parade was over.

But they didn't have any time to relax. They ate dinner, from trays sent to their second-floor living quarters, and then dressed to attend the two big inaugural balls. Mr. Eisenhower and his son, Major John Eisenhower, were ready to step out at 9:30 p.m.

But their ladies—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Barbara Eisenhower, and her mother, Mrs. John Doud—kept the President and his son waiting for 15 minutes before they appeared.

The President's son, who came from Korea service to see his father, sworn-in as President, will be going back to Korea shortly.

The Eisenhower party returned from the inauguration parties shortly before 2 a.m.

Fulton Hot As Tigers Fall 73-52

By Joe Wilson—Fulton had just too much for Murray High last night at the Fulton gymnasium as they dealt our Tigers their sixth defeat of the season to only four victories. The loss was the third straight for Ty Holland's quintet.

For a team that looked good in a weekend game with a tough Bowling Green quintet, the Tigers were actually flat, but at Fulton it was a different story. The Bulldogs, led by Charlie Sevier were hitting from everywhere as the score reveals.

Murray outscored the Bulldogs in the final stanza but the 60-35 third period lead, that the host team held couldn't be narrowed any. Phillips led his team during the final period in outscoring the Bulldogs 17-13.

Murray Coach Ty Holland is trying hard to get his boys in better shape for the Tilghman game Friday night at the Tilghman gym in Paducah. The Tigers aren't in the best of physical condition—even though their shooting seems to be hurting them much worse. Free throws should be the main subject for the remainder of the weeks practice session. The Tigers haven't been doing the worst at the charity-line this season but they can stand some improvement.

Ike Got Idea Of Inaugural Prayer From Church Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (UP)—President Eisenhower got the idea for his impromptu inaugural prayer at a informal church service.

When he returned to the St. Peter Hotel from National Presbyterian Church, he sat down at a desk and wrote some thoughts—composed the moving words with which he introduced his inaugural message.

"This 'little prayer' was only 135 words long. This is what it said: 'Almighty God, we stand here at this moment, my future associates in the executive branch of the government join me in beseeching thee that thou wilt make good the promise of dedication to the service of this people in this hour and their fellow citizens everywhere.'

"We pray, the power to discern clearly right from wrong and allow all our words and actions to be governed thereby and by the laws of this land."

"Especially we pray that our concern shall be for all the people regardless of station, race or color. May cooperation be permitted and be the mutual aim of those who under the honest of our constitution, hold to differing political beliefs—so that all may work for the good of our beloved country and for thy glory. Amen."

E. G. Miller On Minesweeper

MEDITERRANEAN FLEET—serving aboard the fleet minesweeper USS Pigeon, is E. G. Miller, quartermaster, third class, USN, son of Mrs. Pearl Miller of 811 Vine Street, Murray.

The Pigeon recently completed a six day visit to Monte Carlo, Monaco, located on the fabulous French Riviera, playground of royalty and the rich.

While in Monte Carlo the crew of the Pigeon enjoyed conducted tours of the famed gambling casino Nice, the perfume center of the world and Cannes, whose beaches gave birth to the bikini bathing suit. The sailors also enjoyed skiing in the Maritime Alps.

Before leaving Monte Carlo they were invited to visit the Prince of Monaco's palace where they received souvenirs.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE
MARTHA PURDY went away in a few minutes. Deborah rearranged her flowers, took them into the parlor, put them on the coffee table. She had tidied the room the day before but she looked it over carefully now for a sign of disorder or dust. She would keep the room as neat as she could. She would keep the room as neat as she could. She would keep the room as neat as she could.

Deborah sat down. "Nothing for me—yes, some advice about an investment I have in mind. In the meantime, I have a favor to ask of you. I have a favor to ask of you. I have a favor to ask of you."

"You saw your brother just now, didn't you?" "Yes, I did."

"Does he know you have come to me?" "No, he didn't see me when he went out."

"This investment—you call it that. It's really a loan of money?" "I suppose so. The truth is, Mr. Prout, I know very little of Mr. Prout's business affairs; he isn't one to talk about them to anyone. But I do know that he needs money and I have it to give him. And if it takes him time to get it, I'll wait. I'll wait."

"He's been asking Richard Prout for a loan and been refused."

"This conviction made her ashamed to take the roll of bills which the teller pushed toward her through the little opening of his cage. To buy beef steaks when Will needed money—desperately!"

Alice Waters Circle Meets In Home Of Mrs. A. L. Rhodes

The home of Mrs. A. L. Rhodes on South Sixth Street was the scene of the meeting of the Alice Waters Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church held Monday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

Mrs. J. E. Cross was the speaker to the evening. Her subject was "Ambassadors For Christ." Mrs. Cross presented the program in the agency of the leader for the evening, Mrs. G. K. Curd.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Richard Tuck who was substituting for Miss Alice Waters, who gives the devotion for each meeting, but was unable to attend.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Rhodes and Miss Mayme Whitten to the twenty-one members and two visitors, Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. E. A. Tucker.

Nixon Hopes "Veep" Name Is Reserved Only For Barkley

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (UP)—Vice-President Richard M. Nixon says he hopes the term "Veep" can be reserved forever for outgoing Vice-President Alben W. Barkley.

Nixon told newsmen he has no desire to be called the "Veep."

"I think the word 'Veep' applies particularly as a term of affection for Vice-President Barkley and should go with him," Nixon said.

Goodbye Braces ... Hello Skates

Pam O'Neil (left) and her sister Pat, this year's March of Dimes poster children, try on their first ice skates. Both little girls were stricken by polio when the 1948 epidemic struck their hometown, Raleigh, N. C., and both received swift aid from the March of Dimes. They have made a good recovery and Pat, who was hit hardest, has shed her leg braces for skates. The 1953 March of Dimes continues for all of January.

CARRYING ON FRENCH TRADITION

In a colorful ceremony at the Presidential Palace, Paris, French President Vincent Auriol is pictured placing the "Barette" on the head of newly named Angelo Cardinal Roncalli. This is one of the "signs" the French Republic has inherited from the old monarchy.

Rain Making Project Discussed By Group

By United Press
A vast new project for relieving drought in the southwestern states has been discussed by a group of scientists at the General Electric Company in Schenectady.

Former ambassador to Britain Lewis Douglas attended. He is interested in the project. Heading the scientific group was Dr. Irving P. Krusk, a well-known weather expert.

THE BITTER BIT
CHARLES L. W. VA. (UP)—The local dog-catcher took along his newest weapon—a gas gun—when he answered a call saying a "foul" dog was terrorizing a residential district. He pulled the trigger of the gun as he approached the animal, but at that moment a gust of wind blew the gas back into the dog-catcher's face. He was put out of action and the dog trotted away.

Drops A Hint

Another sewing trick you might like to try. When you are working with very sheer materials, silk, synthetics or cotton, try pinning newspaper to the cloth before you cut it. Put your pins far enough in so that the material and the paper will stay pinned together after the garment is cut out. Then do your basting and sewing through the newspaper. When the garment is all finished and ready for hemming, just tear the paper away. You'll find the whole thing a much easier to manipulate—it will never pull out of shape while you are working on it.

Another sewing days are times when you want quick and easy meals. Here's an idea for an open meal that will be no trouble at all. Make a beef stew the night before and put it in a baking-serving casserole. Make biscuits in the morning and put them in the refrigerator, unbaked. About an hour before dinner, put the casserole in the oven, top with the unbaked biscuits and leave it alone until it is time to eat. A green salad and a pot of hot coffee will keep your family think you are the best cook in the town.

Drunk Drives Car Into Wet Cement

By United Press
Even on the darkest nights, some motorists ride around in a fog. Near Louisville, Kentucky, a drunk drove his car around a barricade and plowed into the wet cement section of a new pavement.

His tires sunk six inches deep into the ooze—and it took a good deal of maneuvering before he finally got his car out. According to one observer, the drunk's only comment was: "You sure must have had a lot of rain around here—I could hardly make it out in low gear."
